

Deep Into the Stillness

1. Deep, deep into the stillness of night,
when the earth slept, intense with calm and expectation,
the Dawn rose and with the light of day,
Word of our God leapt from heaven,
bringing new wholeness and peace:
Emmanuel.

2. Now, now shall the desert bloom
and the parched land rejoice with flower and song.
The glory of God shall be for all to see:
strength to the hands that are feeble,
courage to those clothed in fear,
our God is near.

3. Opened shall be the eyes of the blind:
now the deaf shall hear and the lame leap for joy;
let sorrow flee, no longer mourning death,
filled with the joy of this new day:
God has become one with us in Jesus, the Christ.
