

In this Day, O God

1. In this day, O God, having known the rising of,
the lifting of the light of your sun, the grace of being alive, the joy to be ever thankful, 2. and the call to prayer:
for all of these and more, the bread of our lives and for our hope in the resting of today, the rising of tomorrow, we thank you, giver and source of all the good we know to be from your hands, O God!
3. Let our weary hearts find their calm in list'ning to the voice of one who stirs within, calling us to feel our life as song and dance, a people born to rise and rise again.
4. Open all the good you see to be within us, freeing it to be for others to share.
May the stillness of the night sing of peace for all, that our hopes may find new strength in the morning, O God, our home and our peace for all times.
