

On the Long and Weary Journey

1. On the long and weary journey through the wilderness of grief, we will walk beside you with our love, strengthening your faith.
In the morning of your life you've known eager hopes to live; in the ev'ning you will see the beauty of your love reborn.

2. You have touched so many with the gift of your gracious heart and your thirst for more and more of life has become our own.
As you enter this new path of light we will be with you
in our joy and gratitude.
In our love you shall abide.

3. In the silence of your deepened eyes gift of friendship sings of the truth and meaning to be found with a searching heart.
When no longer we can touch your hand know that we believe you to be alive in us:
in this lifting up you will rise.
